PRESS RELEASE

PICG becomes member of Global Network of Director Institutes.

Pakistan Institute of Corporate Governance (PICG) is pleased to announce that it has been inducted as a member of the Global Network of Director Institutes (GNDI) with effect from June 16, 2015.

GNDI is an exclusive international network of director institutes from across the globe. It currently represents more than 100,000 directors worldwide and works towards the sharing of international expertise in directorship and corporate governance. GNDI also offers a unique program known as the 'Global Passport' which gives the member access to director resources from across the world.

“PICG is the first institute from the sub-continent to have been granted the prestige of joining the GNDI network. This is an exciting opportunity for our current and future members to benefit from sharing experiences with global directors, learn from international colleagues and to stay updated on business and emerging governance trends impacting boardrooms across the world.” said Najia Ansari, spokesperson for PICG.
